VOL. XXII NO. 117

PADUCAH, KY., SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 16, 1907

TEN CENTS PER WEEK

HERE IS BARGAIN FRANCHISE THAT NOBODY SEEMS TO WANT BAD ENOUGH TO SPEND MONEY

Postponed Date of Sale For Mechanicsburg Extension of Traction Line Will Make Sale Illegal, So Must Advertise Again.

General Manager Blecker Said His Company Not in Market For Franchises and Will Only Accept as Gift With Cash Bonus.

"For sale, a franchise."

This want "ad" has been running for thirty-two days now and the sale which was to have been held next Monday at the city hall by Mayor Yeiser must be postponed again 20 days. Even then it is extremely doubtful if there will be a bidder.

The franchise for sale is the one for a street railway extension into Mechanicsburg and the only known bidder, the Paducah Traction company, shows no disposition to purchase. November 6 Mayor Yeiser expected to sell the franchise, as it had been advertised previously for 20 days that the sale would take place then. But no purchasers showed up and Mayor Yeiser postponed the sale to November 18.

Now a point of law has risen, which questions the validity of the sale scheduled for next Monday. The ordinance creating the franchise provides that before its sale it shall be advertised for 20 days, and from November 6 to November 18 is only 12 days. The 20 days' advertising before November 6 cannot count on the postponed sale, so Mayor Yeiser will have to begin again now and advertise the sale for 20 days again which will put it off until December 6.

Manager Blecker, of the Paducah Traction company, said this morning that he had not been in the market for the franchise and would not be so a sale of the franchise will not likely take place December 6. If the people of Mechanicsburg want an extension of the system, it can be gotten like the Gregory Heights extension was gotten, by giving to the traction company a franchise and a cash consideration for the line. Mr. Blecker says, would not be immediately profitable to the company.

Another legal question arising is whether the franchise can be kept indefinitely by the city before a sale. Mechanicsburg citizens are not now prepared to raise the necessary funds to secure the road and the franchise must be fled away, unless some citizen buys it as a speculation, expecting to sell it in the future to some company that will build the line. The line, however, must be in operation 18 months after the sale of the franchise.

WILL REMAIN OPEN

The Mechanics and Farmers Savings bank will remain open tonight to cash checks of the Illinois Central railroad. The bank will pay 30 per cent cash and the balance in cashiers' checks.

PANAMA BONDS

Washington, Nov. 16.—As the result of a protracted conference last night between Roosevelt, Cortelyou, Root and Meyer it is likely the government will issue a block of Panama bonds. Financiers have said the issue would bring out hoarded money.

TEACHERS' MEETING

The teachers' meeting in the office of Superintendent Carnagey at the High school building yesterday afternoon was attended by all the white teachers in the city and an interesting program was carried out and many helpful talks made. President Joe Potter, the retiring trustee, and Mr. J. K. Bondurant, the newly elected trustee from the Second ward, were both present at the meeting and made interesting talks. After the regular meeting, sections and then grade meetings were held by the teachers.

Grain Market.

St. Louis, Nov. 16.—Wheat, 96; corn, 62; oats, 48.

CAN'T WAIT TILL JANUARY MEETING TO ASSUME SEAT

"Unless the short term trustees elect quality at the next meeting of the school board," said Secretary W. T. Byrd last evening, "their seats will be declared vacant and the board will choose men to fill their seats until next November."

J. K. Bondurant, of the Second ward, C. G. Kelly and Dr. C. G. Warner, of the Fourth ward, and J. S. Farley, of the Sixth ward, are elected to seats now vacant, and unless they qualify the board has a right to fill the vacancies until the next election. They can not wait until January to qualify, unless this board chooses to let the matter go over. The assets, to which these men were elected, are now filled by trustees elected by the board to fill vacancies until the election November 5. Consequently, the seats are now vacant, as I understand it. You know the rule; the board has the right to elect and fill vacancies until the next election.

"I do not expect all the trustees to qualify, and I wouldn't be surprised if the present board should have some vacancies to fill at the December meeting."

NO MONEY COMES FROM STATE FOR PAY OF TEACHERS

"Why don't the superintendent of public instruction for the state send out the checks for the funds to pay the county school teachers of western Kentucky?" is a question that almost an army of teachers would like to have answered.

The teachers' money should have been ready for them last Saturday, but when Superintendent Billington returned today from a several days' visit to the county schools the check was still missing.

"I am at a loss to understand why the money is not ready," said the superintendent this morning. "I have notified the state superintendent, but have received no information yet as to the cause of the delay."

The failure to get the money when it is due has caused much annoyance and disappointment to the teachers. They work a long time without getting their money and when the time arrives they want the money.

The per capita this year was placed at an unusually large amount and the fact that this was the year of the election, made it savor strongly of politics although for once it was political move that did good. The teachers are poorly paid and the amount is due them. But observant people think the tax rate was not sufficient to meet the per capita.

Superintendent Billington issued checks to those who wanted them for the full amount due, but if any were cashed it was a courtesy extended by the banks, for the state of Kentucky has no balance here due the school fund.

The superintendent of Marshall county telephoned this morning that his check had also failed to arrive, while reports from other counties in the district are that no money is available for the teachers.

Father Jansen and St. Francis de Sales Church, of Which He is Popular Pastor

FATHER JANSEN.

SILVER JUBILEE OF FATHER JANSEN BEGINS TOMORROW

Next Tuesday marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. Hermann W. Jansen, as pastor of St. Francis de Sales Roman Catholic church in this city. The congregation is to commemorate the occasion by the Triduum Thanksgiving service, over which the Rt. Rev. Bishop William George McCloskey, of Louisville, will officiate. The services commence tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock with solemn high mass.

On Tuesday a series of receptions in the Knights of Columbus hall will conclude with a reception to the congregation and personal friends of Father Jansen. This is an invitation affair as the hall is not sufficiently large to accommodate the general public. A fine automobile and numerous other presents will be made to the beloved priest on Tuesday by the congregation and various orders of the church.

Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 the Sisters and pupils of St. Mary's academy, and such members of the congregation as cannot attend at night, will be received.

For the general public two lectures will be delivered by Father A. A. Lambert, of Chicago. The first will be tomorrow night in the Kennedy theater. The second, will be Monday night in the church. He is one of the finest platform speakers in the country.

These lectures are complimentary to the non-Catholic public of Paducah and all are invited. The subjects are "Woman in Society" and "Science and Revelation."

TWO BURGLARIES TOOK PLACE LAST NIGHT IN PADUCAH

Work of burglars in Paducah indicates experienced crooks, while some of the articles stolen lead the officers to believe the offenders are youthful. Last night the Nosh's Ark store, Broadway, was entered and besides about $6 from the cash drawer the manager missed a lot of Christmas toys from the shelves.

The intruders entered the back door, which is a heavy iron affair and fastened with an iron bar on the inside. How they managed to slip the bar and get in is a mystery unless some one slid the bar from its place from the inside before the store closed in the evening.

The theft was reported to the police and the detectives and patrolmen are investigating the case today. Several suspicious characters are under surveillance and arrests may be made soon.

THE FUNERAL OF SAMUEL BEADLES

The funeral of the late Samuel L. Beadles was held at the house, 1029 Madison street, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, after which the body was taken to Wingo, where Mr. Beadles was born and reared. The burial will take place in Wingo.

Bay St. Louis, Nov. 16.—Fire today destroyed apartment buildings, causing $100,000 loss. For a time the entire town was threatened.

The subject of this sketch was born in Louisville on the 26th day of September, 1851. His early education was obtained at St. Martin's Parochial school in that city, after which he took a thorough collegiate course at St. Thomas Seminary, in Nelson county, Kentucky; St. Joseph College, Bardonia, Kentucky; and Preston Park Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky, spending three years in each institution. He was ordained at Louisville, on May 18th, 1875, by the Rev. William George McCloskey, bishop of Louisville. His first mass was celebrated in his home parish church, St. Martin's, Louisville, Ky., and shortly afterwards he was assigned to his first charge at Shelbyville, Ky., where he remained for six months, and until January, 1876, when he was transferred to Taylorville, Ky., which station he occupied until November 17, 1882, on which date he received his appointment as pastor of St. Francis de Sales congregation, departing for this post on November 18th and arriving and performing his first sacred function at Paducah on November 19, 1882, since which date he has established the unusual record of having fasted on only two Sundays, during the entire period, to celebrate mass for his people; caused on one occasion by his own sickness, and on the other by an urgent sick call to a distant point outside the city.

During his pastorate, Father Jansen has administered baptism to 1209 persons, and has united in marriage 301 couples.

His first baptism was on November 26, 1882, and was that of William V. Lydon, son of William and Katie Lydon, and his first marriage was on February 5, 1883, being that of Hugh Burrows to Kate Sweeney.

The first substantial improvement was the erection in 1891 of a handsome and much needed pastoral residence with all modern improvements, at a cost of $3,500.

In the early part of 1892, the need of a more commodious and substantial church being apparent, Father Jansen undertook the task of raising the necessary funds, and by the exercise of economy, frugality and good business judgment, without burden to his congregation, success was achieved, and on May 1, 1899, the work of tearing down the old church was commenced, and the cornerstone of the new church was blessed and laid on the 5th day of June, 1899, and the beautiful new edifice dedicated on May 13, 1900. In 1900 the interior of the church was frescoed, and a beautiful set of stations and several pieces of statuary installed, and today, the church of St. Francis de Sales is complete, and one of the most beautiful and substantial edifices in the diocese of Louisville, and thanks to the self-sacrifice, energy and good management of Father Jansen, the congregation is practically free from debt.

Father Jansen, while of a retiring and modest disposition, has by his constancy, zeal, piety and urbane manners, endeared himself, not only to his devoted parishioners, but to the citizens generally regardless of creed, and today, all classes of our people are uniting in extending to him congratulations, and good wishes.

OKLAHOMA STATE ENTERED UNION TODAY-INAUGURAL

Washington, Nov. 16.—Indian and Oklahoma territories became the state of Oklahoma at 9:15 o'clock today. The president at that hour affixed his signature to the proclamation. The pen used will be presented to the historical society of the new state.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 16.—At 11 o'clock this morning the inauguration ceremonies of the new state officers opened in the Carnegie library. Governor Haskell, in a speech, criticized Roosevelt's administration as spectacular. He alleged that Judge Landis' Standard Oil fine caused the present financial trouble, and suggested again the closing of the New York Stock Exchange as the proper remedy to restore normal conditions. A symbolic marriage between an Indian maiden, representing Indian Territory and a white man, representing Oklahoma, followed.

Friction between retiring officers and the newly elected was shown when Governor Frantz refused to ride in the carriage with Haskell. A barbecue followed. Tonight at the ball Haskell appears in a business suit and his wife in an imported gown.

THE COUNTY SCHOOLS

County Superintendent S. J. Billington made his regular visit to the county schools last week and reports them in excellent condition and great interest being taken by all the teachers and the pupils. "The attendance is fully ten per cent larger than at this time last year and I consider all the schools in a healthy condition. In only a few districts has there been a falling off in attendance and the cause is attributed to some local epidemic," he said.

Citizens' Savings Bank Will be Open Tonight to Accommodate Railroad Men

The Citizens' Savings bank will keep open tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock to accommodate the railroad men who have checks to cash or deposit. It will pay 30 per cent of the amount in cash, approximately one-third, and the balance in cashiers' checks on the spot checks the railroad company has provided for that purpose; or it will accept them at full value on deposit. The officers of this bank are being congratulated on its appointment by State Treasurer-elect Edwin Eutley as one of the state depositories, effective January 1, the announcement of which was made yesterday. The state has usually kept from $100,000 to $125,000 in West Kentucky banks and all of this will come to the Citizens' first of the year.

OFFICE OF CITY JAILER MAY BECOME BONE OF CONTENTION ACCOUNT OF BEADLES' DEATH

May Mean War

The present financial stringency has developed many humorous incidents, and Oee Alexander, of the Paducah Furniture company, tells of an amusing one. A dandy came into his store this morning with a cashier's check of one of the local banks, and wanted to make some purchases. "I want to spend all this here thing," he said, exhibiting the check. "I don't exactly understand what all this means, boss, and I think there's something going to be a wah, ain't they?" Mr. Alexander quickly explained the uses of the check to the dandy, who made his purchases and departed, evidently satisfied that it would buy furniture, anyway.

SEVEN JURYMEN EXHAUST PANEL IN POWERS CASE

Georgetown, Ky., Nov. 16.—The Powers trial convened early today with five men qualified to serve on the jury. Walter Whittaker today secured a release, having expressed an opinion, and with the four men left, the lawyers began the work of examining the other veniremen.

Seven men qualified for duty on the powers jury this morning and the panel was exhausted. A new panel will be in Monday. Rule was issued against those who failed to show up on the first panel. Powers' attorneys ask time to make a motion to discharge the entire Harrison county panel on the ground that sheriffs and deputies acted improperly while summoning jurors. Powers had men watching them.

GOLD HEAPED UP ON COUNTERS OF PAYING TELLERS

The counters of the paying tellers at the local banks presented a picture this morning good for sore eyes, and good, too, for a host of other ailments, chief of which is a stricken money market.

Preparing to take care of the pay checks of the two railroads, the Paducah banks provided themselves with more money than usual today. Merchants sent to the cities for huge rolls of currency, and business clerks are bound to benefit by this great stimulus. The banks are only paying 30 per cent of the checks in cash, the balance being paid in cashiers' checks. The merchants are accepting checks to apply on current accounts or to apply to new purchases, giving currency in exchange, and will continue to do so as long as their supply lasts.

"We had $10,000 shipped in from the east today, paying $300 premium for it," said Ben Weille, of B. Weille & Son, today. Culley, Harbour, Wallerstein, and all the big stores prepared to accommodate their patrons, and did so at a great expense.

"Conditions are rapidly improving," said a banker today, "and just a little more patience and confidence on the part of our customers, and the situation will clear up more quickly. The Paducah banks now are endeavoring to provide to move the tobacco crop, but this will not be done for a few weeks yet."

Money that at first intimation of a scarcity sought those primitive places of safety—socks and stockings, is coming out, and general conditions are much better than they have been at any time in the past three weeks.

The Illinois Central employees are advised by the local bankers to cash their checks by Monday, as the means the company has provided to take care of them will not be available after Monday.

Local merchants are praising the Illinois Central for its efforts to relieve the conditions here, and at the same time Paducah bankers are coming in for praise for their unselfish labors of this week and the past two. The man who has no conception of a banker's position, cannot appreciate the position these men of trust have occupied for several weeks, and those who have are generous in their compliments and praises.

Incumbent, Tom Evitts, Declares He Will Hold Office Until His Successor is Elected and Qualifies Next November.

Others Hold to Position That Vacancy Will Exist January 1 and Mayor Must Appoint Successor to Evitts Until Election.

Succession to the office of city jailer, since the death of Jailer-elect Samuel L. Beadles without qualifying, promises to cause litigation, unless the opinion of E. H. Puryear, former city solicitor, in the case of former Councilman McCarty, is accepted as final in the case.

City Jailer Tom Evitts contends that he will continue in office until the election next November, when a successor for the unexpired term may be elected. He bases his contention on section 3145 of the charter, which says that the jailer shall "hold his office for four years or until his successor is elected and qualified." He says that Mr. Beadles, although elected, did not qualify, and therefore the incumbent holds until someone elected does qualify.

However, Mr. Puryear had occasion after the November election of 1904, to pass upon a similar question arising concerning the right of Councilman McCarty to hold over, his successor being elected but declining to qualify. Mr. Puryear then held that Mr. McCarty's term had expired, and the mayor should appoint his successor, which was done.

The statutes of Kentucky and the constitution seem to settle the matter clearly. Section 2049 of the Kentucky statutes says: "Vacancies in office elected by popular vote, shall be filled by the mayor for the remainder of the term."

Section 1521 says: "The term vacancy in office or any equivalent phrase, as used in this article, means such as exists when there is an unexpired part of a term of office without a lawful incumbent therein, or when the person elected or appointed to an office fails to qualify according to law. It applies whether the vacancy is occasioned by death, resignation, removal from state, county, district or otherwise."

It is the opinion of Mr. Puryear that Mayor-elect Smith will have the appointment to make.

THE SPELLING BEE

Spelling bees are popular among the county schools now and contests between schools are of frequent occurrence. One of unusual interest will be given at the Palestine school house next Tuesday night, the scholars of the Grahamville school, which is taught by Miss Ruby Knott, and the Palestine school, taught by Byron Kirkpatrick, will be pitted against each other and a large crowd is expected, as there is said to be some of the best spellers in the county among the pupils of the two schools.

HOME OF FRIENDLESS

Thanksgiving at the Home of the Friendless will be marked this year by a reception to the public on the Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving. The board of lady managers is planning to make this reception one of the memorable ones of the institution and is especially anxious that men and children as well as the women should attend. As usual the board of managers will receive any gifts that the public may desire to present to the home and these may be brought to the reception.

SHOT WHILE ON KNEES

Metropolis, Ill., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—Luella Hamilton, the negro woman, who confessed to witnessing the murder of Clem Stewart by Hamilton Stewart, was captured today at Brookport and locked up. She protested that she had nothing to do with the murder of Clem Stewart, and only assisted Hamilton Stewart in disposing of the body. The body was recovered from the "Upper" lake. Clem Stewart called at Hamilton Stewart's house while the latter was there, to see Hamilton Stewart's wife and hid in a field. Hamilton Stewart went out with a shotgun and found Clem, who knelt and prayed for his life. While in that position Hamilton Stewart killed him.

THE LITTLE RED LEAF.

"Brief, O brief,"
Said the little red leaf,
"Is the span of life, I find;
But it's very fine fun
To dance in the sun
To the tune of the minstrel wind."
"Then, master, play,
And the while I may
I'll foot to the measure fair,
With mirth for friend
To the very end,
A rollicking, frolicking pair."
"It will not be long"
(Thus saith the song!)
"Are the break in this narrow arc
Ere the time comes when (Take heed, O men)
I shall eddy into the dark!"
—Clinton Scottard, in the New York Sun.

Daily Thought.

O, never falter! peace must come by pain. Heaven is not found, but won.—Samuel Johnson.

Why not take the Jamestown exposition on the road and exhibit at county fairs?

Paducah will most heartily join with the Pennyrile Press association
in the invitation to the State Press association to meet in this city next time. Paducah offers abundant hospitality to the newspaper boys from the Mountains, Bluegrass, Beargrass and Pennyrile and Purchase. Commercial organizations in this city should get busy at once, and back up that invitation of the association.
If you wish to advertise Paducah just show the newspapermen of the state a good time. Talk about casting your bread upon the waters!

If you see a dark shadow following you when you go into the back yard, be assured it is a yegg, watching to see where you hide the tin can that contains your hoarded gold.

At last Bryan has agreed to accept the presidential nomination, if the Democratic party proposes.

FATHER JANSEN.

Just a gentle, kindly man, silver haired and benign of smile, for a quarter of a century parish priest in this community, visiting the sick and comforting the mourners; laughing
with those on whom fortune shines,
always ready with a bit of philosophy
to fit a cloudy day—a pastor to his flock. This is Father Jansen. Scholarly attainments are his; he is a pleasing pulpit orator, and his presence graces any assemblage of cultured people. But such qualities sink into insignificance beside a record of 25 years without a single Sunday spent away from this city, and only two absences from regular Sabbath services, one of these being occasioned by his own illness, and the other
by a sick call.

Truly when one considers such devotion to his master's business and such watchful supervision of his charge, the word "father" has a significance peculiarly appropriate.

Rarest of all virtues is perfect fidelity. Father Jansen has schooled himself to it, until it must have become a habit. His shoulders are slightly stooped under the burdens
of everybody's troubles in his parish;
but there is a glow to his countenance that indicates at whose feet
he lays the burden. There is no real dignity, but gentle dignity. We know of nothing so becoming a man as a sweet disposition. We recognize no other proportions so satisfactory as a head big enough for the business of the hour, and a heart big enough for the whole world.

Father Jansen is not simply a person of consequence in Paducah. He is an institution. His position in the church and community life is fixed by long and faithful service. This Thanksgiving tide, which begins tomorrow, is not in the nature of a reward to Father Jansen. There is only one adequate reward for service
like his. This is a jubilee of Thanksgiving by the parish, because they have had him so long, and a petition that he may be spared to labor among them for many, many years to come.

Two gunboats were burned at the Baltic ship yards for Russia. If Russia's ships have to be destroyed, the home folks might as well be allowed to enjoy the spectacle. They have to pay for them.

The sad death of Samuel Beadles,
city jailer-elect, but emphasizes the fact that the most serious things of this life are but trivialities. Two days ago Mr. Beadles was receiving the congratulations of friends. Today his family are receiving the heartfelt condolences of the same people. Good fortune or bad—and Poor Sam Beadles had his share of both—amount to nothing in the final summing up.
Samuel Beadles won his election by an overwhelming sentiment of sympathy and popularity. That was all that men could do. But Providence had other designs, and overruled the verdict of the people. Yet it will be consoling to his family when the first keen pang of heart ache wears away,
to remember that vote the people
gave him, who knew him.

ORGANIZE SCHOOL BOARD.

School trustees-elect, and especially the short term men, entitled to assume their seats at once, owe a duty to their constituents more immediate than merely serving their terms after January 1. Indeed, if these gentlemen do not bestir themselves and qualify by the next meeting, they may find their seats declared vacant and other men substituted for them in a way to make the dominating faction of the present board a self-perpetuating institution.
These short term trustees are elected to fill vacancies caused by resignations. The board itself elected men to fill the vacancies until the election. So their time has expired and unless the short term men appear at the December meeting and assume their seats, some members of the present board propose to elect men to those seats to hold until next November.

J. K. Bondurant, of the Second ward, was elected to the seat temporarily occupied by J. B. Potter. In the Fourth ward both C. G. Kelly and C. G. Warner are entitled to their seats at once, as the incumbent C. G. Kelly and Peter Becken-bach were chosen by the board to fill unexpired terms until the election.
J. C. Farley, of the Sixth ward,
also succeeds an ad interim trustee.
With the exception of Trustee Kelly these are all new men, and with the other trustees-elect they will change
the whole complexion of the board with six new members. If these four do not qualify and the faction referred to should succeed in electing their own men to these seats, there would be but three new men of the people's choosing on the board, the old crowd could reorganize the new board to suit itself, and the election
would be a malapropos so far as recording the popular choice is concerned.
These men owe it to themselves
and to their constituents to appear at the meeting next month and take those seats; to see the old board through and then to assist in the organization of the new board. After that, when they have had a taste of school work, it is up to them to do as they please.

Recognizing the fact that sometimes a man is shoved into a political office, for which he has no inclination and no time, The Sun urges these men at least to qualify and help organize the new board. The Sun took kindly to the idea of a non-partisan school-board ticket and was hounded by the contemporary press.
The Sun then turned to the Republican convention and demanded that men of sterling character be nominated. The Sun's demand was complied with and the people of Paducah
indorsed The Sun's candidates.
If all these men take their seats on the school board the city will have a body of trustees, of whom the citizens may be proud. If some of them find that they cannot conscientiously give up the necessary time to the business of the schools, they may resign and their colleagues, elected at the same time with them, may choose their successors to fill the vacancies
until the next election, when the people may name other men of the same calibre.

There is no man, who cannot do that much. If they decline to qualify now, a board composed of men, who were themselves appointed to their seats, will probably have themselves chosen to succeed themselves for another year. But if the trustees-elect will simply qualify and attend two meetings, one in December and one in January, the new board of trustees elected by the people, will assume charge of affairs, organize the body, and then fill such vacancies as may occur by reason of resignations, or otherwise.

BLINDFOLDED

A Mystery Story
of San Francisco

BY
EARLE ASHLEY WALCOTT

(Copyright 1906, The Doble-Merrill Co.)

Had I been long in the city? She had been here only a week. Came from Maine way. This was a dear, dreadful city with such nice people and such dreadful winds, wasn't it? And then she gave me a catalogue of the places
she had visited, and the attractions of San Francisco, with a wealth of detail and a poverty of interest that was little less than marvelous.

Fortunately she required nothing but an occasional murmur of assent in the way of answer from me.
I looked across the room to the corner where Luella was entertaining the insignificant innman. How vivacious and intelligent she appeared! Her face and figure grew on me in attractiveness, and I felt that I was being very badly used. As I came to this point I was roused by the sound of two low voices that just behind me were plainly audible under the shrill tremble of Mrs. Bowser. They were women with their heads close in gossip.

"Shocking, isn't it?" said one.
"Dreadful!" said the other. "It gives me the creeps to think of it."
"Why don't they lock him up? Such a creature shouldn't be allowed to go at large."
"Oh, you see, maybe they can't be sure about it. But I've heard it's a case of family pride."

I was recalled from this dialogue by Mrs. Bowser's fan on my arm, and her shrill voice in my ear with, "What is your idea about it, Mr. Wilton?"
"I think you are perfectly right," I said heartily, as she paused for an answer.

"Then I'll arrange it with the others
at once," she said.
This was a bucket of ice-water on me. I had not the first idea of what I had committed myself.

"No, don't," I said. "Wait till we have time to discuss it again."
"Oh, we can decide on the time
whenever you like. Will some night week after next suit you?"

I had to throw myself on the mercy of the enemy.
"I'm afraid I'm getting rather absent-minded," I said humbly. "I was looking at Miss Knapp and lost the thread of the discourse for a minute."
"That's what I was talking about,"
she said sharply—"about taking her and the rest of us through Chinatown."
"Yes, yes, I remember," I said unblushingly. "If I can get away from business, I'm at your service at any time."

Then Mrs. Bowser wandered on with the arrangements she would find necessary to make, and I heard one of the low voices behind me:

"Now this is a profound secret, you know. I wouldn't have them know for the world that any one suspects. I just heard it this week, myself."

"Oh, I wouldn't dare breathe it to a soul," said the other. "But I'm sure I shan't sleep a wink to-night." And they moved away.

I interrupted Mrs. Bowser to explain that I must speak to Mrs. Knapp and made my escape as some one stopped to pass a word with her.
"Oh, must you go, Henry?" said Mrs. Knapp. "Well, you must come again soon. We miss you when you stay away. Don't let Mr. Knapp keep you too closely."

I professed myself happy to come whenever I could find the time, and looked about for Luella. She was nowhere to be seen. I left the room a little disappointed, but with a swelling pride that I had passed the dreaded ordeal and had been accepted as Henry Wilton in the house in which I had most feared to meet disaster. My opinion of my own cleverness had risen,
in the language of the market,
"above par."

As I passed down the hall, a tall willowy figure stepped from the shadow of the stair. My heart gave a bound of delight. It was Luella Knapp.
I should have the pleasure of a leave-
taking in private.

"Oh, Miss Knapp!" I said. "I had despaired of having the chance to bid you good night." And held out my hand.

She ignored the hand. I could see from her heaving bosom and shortened breath that she was laboring under great agitation. Yet her face gave no evidence of the effort that it cost her to control herself.

"I was waiting for you," she said in a low voice.

I started to express my satisfaction
when she interrupted me.
"Who are you?" broke from her lips
almost fiercely.

I was completely taken aback, and stared at her in amazement with no
word at command.

"You are not Henry Wilton," she said rapidly. "You have come here

upon the completion of twenty-five years of faithful service in the cause of his Divine Master, and the general welfare of humanity; years full weighted with good deeds—
"Which as autumnal leaves that strew the brooks of Valhombros."

I was tempted beyond measure to

FATHER JANSEN

with his name and his clothes, and made up to look like him, and you try to use his voice and take his place.
Who are you?"

There was a depth of scorn and anger and apprehension in that low voice of hers that struck me dumb.

"Can you not answer?" she demanded, catching her breath with excitement. "You are not Henry Wilton."

"Well?" I said half-indignantly. It was not safe to advance or retreat.

"Well—I well—I!" She repeated my answer with indignation and disdain deepening in her voice. "Is that all you have to say for yourself?"

"What should I say?" I replied quietly. "You make an assertion. Is there anything more to be said?"

"Oh, you may laugh at me if you please, because you can hoodwink the others."

I protested that laughter was the last thing I was thinking of at the moment.

Then she burst out impetuously:

"Oh, if I were only a man! No; if I were a man I should be hoodwinked like the rest. But you can not deceive me. Who are you? What are you here for? What are you trying to do?"

She was blazing with wrath. Her tone had raised hardly an interval of the scale, but every word that came in that smooth, low voice was heavy with contempt and anger. It was the true laughter of the Wolf who stood before me.

"I am afraid, Miss Knapp, you are not well to-night," I said soothingly.

PEOPLE AND SOCIAL EVENTS

Pleasant Anniversary Reception.
The Mite society of the First Baptist church celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of their organization with a reception last evening from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock in the lecture room of the church. The platform was banked with palms and ferns and the room looked most attractive. The officers of the society received the guests at the door. They are: Mrs. W. E. Covington, president; Mrs. E. R. Puryear, vice-president; Mrs. E. B. Richardson, treasurer; Mrs. J. M. Walton, secretary. An informal musical program was a feature of pleasure. Miss Caroline Ham and Mr. Frank Cheek sang very effectively "When Dreams Come True." Mr. MacDonald gave two attractive solos. Delightful refreshments were served by the ladies of the society. A large number of guests were present.

AT SHILOH

COMMISSION AGREES TO ERECT MEMORIAL CHURCH.

Jerry Porter Makes a Hit With Impromptu Speech at Methodist Conference.

Humboldt, Tenn., Nov. 16.—When the name of Rev. W. D. Dunn, pastor of Shiloh circuit, embracing a church on the old Shiloh battlefield, was reached in the Methodist conference, he called attention to the fact that the Methodist church building at that place was not in keeping with the national park, and that the old building was the subject of ridicule by the thousands of tourists who annually visit that historic point. In view of this fact, Rev. Dunn offered a resolution, signed by Rev. R. M. King and Rev. H. B. Johnson, asking conference to endorse the work of erecting at that point a memorial church. At this point Presiding Elder Blackard stated that he was in receipt of a communication from Mr. Ashcraft, one of the government commissioners who has Shiloh park in charge, requesting that the Memphis conference deed to the park a plot of five acres of ground, on which the church is located, in consideration of which the government will erect a suitable memorial church in every way, and deed it to the conference for a period of ninety-nine years. Formal action by the conference was deferred on the matter for the present, but Bishop Hendrix stated he very heartily approved the erection in some way of a suitable church building at this point.

It was here announced by the bishop that conference would adjourn Monday at noon, to give all the delegates a chance to get away on afternoon trains.

By special request a collection was taken up by Rev. W. A. Cook, of the Paducah district, and Rev. Cook was transferred to superannuate relations. W. T. Elmore was also granted this relation, and Rev. R. H. Pigne was granted supernumerary relations.

W. T. Ricketts, who served Briensburg circuit on the Paducah district last year, has been transferred to the southwest Missouri conference.

One of the most notable addresses made during the conference was that of Jerry Porter, a drummer and big Methodist, from Clinton, at the Methodist Episcopal church last night before the anniversary meeting of the board of church extension. The address was an impromptu one, but was a masterpiece of humor and pathos.

He kept the great crowd of preachers in a roar of laughter, and burst after burst of applause greeted the witty strokes. Dr. McMurray, of Louisville, was to have addressed this meeting, but failed to arrive.

A summary of the reports of the presiding elders of all the districts shows that there were 10,000 professions and 8,000 additions to the church in the Memphis conference the past year.

Bishop Hendrix announced the transfer to the conference of the following: Rev. S. M. Godbey, from Missouri; Rev. H. B. Lasey and Rev. E. W. Crump, from Oklahoma.

Tried to Rob Rink.

By the vigilance of Manager E. W. Crumbaugh's pet dog, "Rags," a burglary was prevented at the skating rink last night. The manager had retired when the dog discovered that some one was attempting to break into the building, and by barking gave the alarm that summoned his master. Like other attempted burglaries recently it is supposed that some one thought money was being kept in the building. The manager stated that there was not a cent of money in the building.

Deeds Filed.

William Fisher to J. E. Bruce, property in the county, $684.

In Police Court.

Mamie Cato, alias "Little Bit," was held to the grand jury, this morning on a charge of cutting "Aunt Phoebe," while George Armstrong, her "man," who, it appears, swore falsely in an attempt to liberate "Little Bit," will have to answer Monday to a charge of perjury. The evidence tended to show that the cutting was in "Aunt Phoebe's" room and that the Cato woman provoked the fight.

Bernard Thom, the young "white man" charged with robbing J. F. Addison, waived examination and was held to answer. Bail was fixed at $300, which he gave.

Will Lowery, charged with being drunk, was fined $1 and costs.

Plain Face?

Your doctor understands the formula of Ayer's Hair Vigor. Ask him about your using it. Do as he says. He knows.

Did nature give you a plain face? What of it? Make your hair so handsome that every one will forget your face. Make them talk only of the softness, richness, and marvelous beauty of your hair. Ayer's Hair Vigor, "the new kind," does not color the hair.

THEATRICAL NOTES

"Strongheart."

Edgar Selwyn, and his capable company of excellent actors gave the Paducah theater patrons the best treat they have had this season last night, and deserved better patronage. Last year when Robert Edeson, who ranks as one of the best actors of the present day, was here, a mere handful of people saw him, and the present management of The Kentucky has had that fact thrown in their faces at every turn this year. In New York, all the leading managers have a list of the bookings, playing a town the year previous and the amount of business they did, and when, in making out their routes for the season, they go over this list they know what towns to go to and what to avoid. Paducah is one they are avoiding this season,—all due to a lack of appreciation on the part of our people. It is humiliating.

But we get back to Selwyn. Those who saw Edeson last year and Selwyn last night, were agreeably surprised in Mr. Selwyn's work. He does not look the part, probably, as much as Edeson, as he has not the physique, and at times the role is not as well sustained in some of the parts calling for quick action, but, in its entirety, his rendition is satisfactory. His work in the dressing room scene, in the second act, is a splendid bit of acting, as also is his work in the third act, when the boys upon whom he has looked as friends in every sense of the word, brothers, almost, denounce him for even assuming to love Nelson's sister. He was given call after call last night after the act, and responded with a neat little curtain speech.

His company is better than Edeson's. Clifford Stark, the Paducah boy, as Dick Livingston, justified the expectations of his friends. Of a splendid presence and with a big, strong voice, and a clear conception of his part, he sustains it admirably. Miss Kate McLaurin, as Dorothy Nelson, was pleasing. She is a southern girl, a native of Helena, Ark., and is a beautiful girl. This is her second year on the stage. Last year she had a small part in Klein's "Daughters of Men," and her friends are predicting great things for her.

"Strongheart" is a splendid play, and is destined to last. Edeson took it to London last season, but the Britishers did not like it because "Strongheart" does not wed the girl, and it is a certainty that a majority of the American women agree with them. The men, however, merely shake their heads when that phase of the subject is broached.

Cooperage Company Withdraws Warrant When Big Hearted Officer Reports.

When Patrolman Henry Singery was sent to the home of Mrs. Louise Douglas, of Mechanicsburg, yesterday to arrest her on a warrant secured by the Paducah Cooperage company, charging her with larceny, committed by picking up bits of waste wood in the company's yards, he found a most deplorable condition in the home, and big hearted, true Kentuckian that he is, the officer refused to serve the warrant, but reported the matter to his chief who commended his action. Mrs. Douglas is absolutely without support, while her daughter is hopelessly ill of consumption and the circumstances showed that she was forced to get fuel in the way she did. When apprised of the circumstances the cooperage company officials asked that the warrant be dismissed, and also promised to send a load of fuel to the unfortunate family, which from all reports is deserving of charity.

COL. CODY NAMED

AFFIDAVIT FILED BY HOWARD GOULD IN NEW YORK.

He Accuses Wife of Criminal Relations With Plainman Prior to Her Marriage.

New York, Nov. 16.—An affidavit setting forth on information and belief that, prior to her marriage to him, Katherine Clemmons' relations with William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) were criminal and meretricious, was filed in the supreme court today by Howard Gould.

The affidavit declares that, prior to their marriage, Miss Clemmons told him that her relations with Cody were purely of a business nature, but that he had since been informed, and believes that he can prove, that this was not true. By Katherine Mer, of London, England, Gould says, he expects to disprove the truth of the story which was told by his wife by showing that she made a confession to Miss Mer as to the true nature of her relations with Cody. Miss Mer is now in New York.

The case came up, before Justice O'Gorman today on the application of Clarence Shearn, counsel for Mrs. Gould, to have vacated an order which Mr. Gould recently got from Justice Fitzgerald for the examination of Miss Mer as a witness in his defense to Mrs. Gould's suit for a separation. Counsel Shearn, in his argument, said that while Mr. Gould set forth that Miss Mer said his wife confessed to her what the relations with Cody were, the affidavit does not

INAUGURATION

FRANKFORT BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB IN CHARGE.

Promise Ceremonies Will Take Place on Time—Preparations for the Ball.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 16.—Tentative plans for the inauguration of Augustus E. Wilson on December 10 have been made by the Business Men's club, of Frankfort, which will have charge of the proceedings and everybody, Democrats as well as Republicans, will join in making the event a great one. The sub-committees will be appointed and active work of preparation will be begun at once.

The feature, in addition to the inaugural ceremonies proper, will be the procession which will march through the streets of Frankfort and this will start on time, probably at 11 o'clock. It is the intention of the committee to have the whole programme go off on time and there will be every effort to prevent the delays which have been usual before. Special trains will be run into Frankfort from several points and if these trains do not get in on time those who come on the trains will be disappointed for there will be no delay. The procession will start at the time appointed and the ceremonies in front of the old capitol building will be held as near noon as can be.

A stand will be erected in front of the state house and there the new governor will take the oath of office and the present governor will retire from his official position. The first thing on the programme will be the invocation and this will be followed by an address from Governor J. C. W. Beckham, laying down the cares of his office. Mr. Wilson has said that he does not expect to make a long talk. He says that he will not make promises but will allow his acts to speak instead and that he will have very little to say regarding what he expects to do in the term into which he will be inducted.

The ball may be held in the capitol hotel, where all other balls have been held, as there is talk of a new hardwood floor for the dining room. This room is directly under the old ball room and is exactly the same size. If the floor is improved it would answer the purpose well and might be better than the skating rink, which has been suggested as the most available place. A reception will be held before the ball and this makes it necessary to have a large space available in addition to the ball room. The skating rink could be used by making additions to it and if it is found that the hotel cannot be used these additions will be built. At any rate the ball, which is the most important feature of the inauguration, will be held somewhere and it will be just as large and just as delightful an affair as it usually is.

SHORT CHANGE GAME

Worked on Eddyville Citizen While on Train.

Fulton, Ky., Nov. 16.—On the north-bound passenger train 104, last night, a small, smooth-faced man about 27 years of age, derby hat, dark sack suit, a small gold watch, leather fob with silver shield, requested that J. D. Lester, a prominent attorney of Eddyville, a passenger on 104, give him a $20 bill for some small bills. The man described above short-changed Mr. Lester out of $15 in the deal and got off the train at Memphis. N. L. Lickles, of Cincinnati, was a witness to the transaction.

Some merchants' prices are so high that they ought to give you even $1.25 of their merchandise for a Cashier's Check, or any other kind of a dollar.

Common sense instinctively perceives that a merchant is not selling merchandise at real cash prices who advertises to take Cashier's checks at $1.05 or more in trade when he won't give you even what they call for in real money.

It pays to buy in a store like this that does sell its merchandise at real cash prices, and for that reason gives you cash on Cashier's Checks.

Whistles shrieked at close intervals on the river this morning as the densest fog seen in some time made navigation cautious. Boats are several hours behind as a consequence and especially the big towboats with many barges ahead of them. The rise in the last 24 hours was the same as in the preceding period, .3, making a stage of 11.3.

River front industries and steamboats as yet have not cut their forces and so far as the white employees are concerned, conditions are satisfactory, but some of the negro tie carriers do not quite understand the situation financially and some little time usually is required to explain to them. When the ultimatum is to take the checks or quit work, the choice to take the checks has been general.

Readjustment of schedules is going on among the boats and in the course of a week or ten days, all the packets probably will be in their regular trades. The Buttorff laid up yesterday on arriving from Evansville. The Buttorff will relieve the Richardson in the Cumberland river trade, and the Richardson will get back in its trade between Nashville and Evansville.

Captain E. W. Bewley and crew will leave on the Dunbar today for Evansville to bring out the John Hopkins in the place of the Buttorff. It will be Tuesday or Wednesday before that packet gets back here.

From towing the Bloomer girls to towing ties is rather a change, but the towboat Nellie has made it without apparent disaster. The Nellie arrived today from the Tennessee river with ties and will return to that river in a few days. Next summer the Nellie may take the girls again in tow.

Another Nellie, the regular Paducah Nellie, left for the Tennessee river today after a tow of ties.

Capers are cut every day by the Fannie Wallace that reveal new powers in the hefty little towboat. When the John A. Wood passed the other day with a big tow of ties, the Fannie Wallace went out and brought to the bank three big barges. This morning the Fannie with much blowing defied the fog with Captain Mulen at the wheel.

The Reeper arrived late yesterday from the Caseyville mines with coal for the West Kentucky Coal company and after cleaning boilers today will get away Sunday for another tow.

The Blue Spot was coaling this morning to go to the Cumberland river after ties. The Lyda of the same company, will arrive Sunday or Monday from the Cumberland with ties. Western methods of branding cattle to identify them, have their counterpart in this country in the method used to identify ties. Each tie company has a "spot," as, for instance, the Standard company has the "blue spot," and other companies have red, yellow, green and white spots. These spots are dabs of paint put on the end of each tie to identify the owner, and are the trademarks of the different companies. On Tennessee and Cumberland river banks great heaps of ties with all kinds of spots may be seen any time.

At the ways the T. H. Davis will be finished tonight after several days of repair work, and two barges will be let into the river, one for the Ayer-Lord and one for the Standard Tie company. Work still is far behind at the ways and enough in sight for months.

The Harry Brown last night was about 20 miles from Paducah with a big tow of coal waiting on the fog. Making slow time the Harry Brown passed here today.

The big Sprague and Williams are a little behind time and will sight Paducah Sunday or Monday going south with coal.

The Charles Turner did not arrive until today from the Cumberland river.

The I. N. Hook will get off the dry docks probably late today and be nearly ready for business with the exception of the wheel, which is lying on the bank ready to be put in place.

The Kentucky did not get back from Brookport until this morning, having been delayed by the fog, and will get away tonight before midnight for the Tennessee river.

The Saltillo will come out of the Tennessee river bound for St. Louis Sunday or Sunday night.

Unless the Buttorff goes to Nashville today, there will not be a boat in the Cumberland river trade until Wednesday. The Buttorff may wait to go out on time Monday for Clarksville.

The Inverness towing ties for the Ayer-Lord Tie company, arrived today from the Ohio river. The Pavonia did not leave until today for the Cumberland river.

Noah's Diary Was a Little too Much

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16.—An alleged copy of Noah's diary, engraved upon a copper tablet dug up in Michigan and offered for sale to a Wisconsin collector, has resulted in uncovering one of the cleverest relics swindles of recent years. A former secretary of state is implicated in the affair and with him are a university museum curator and other Michigan men.

Michigan Copper as Basis.

Michigan copper formed the basis of the enterprise, which consisted in manufacturing ancient relics, out of copper, planting them green to represent verdigris, dipping them in corrosive acid, and turning them in mounds, after which they were dug up by false hunting expeditions under the leadership of promoters.

once of reputable witnesses from tablets inscribed with hieroglyphics and symbols of the biblical deluge and the tower of Babel. The fakers would have had collectors believe that Michigan was the seat of the original flood, and that Noah's ark floated somewhere among Michigan's low hills, which were the real Mount Ararat.

The diary of Noah was offered to a wealthy man of the Badger state, who asked the advice of a museum curator as to accepting it. This man had had considerable experience with fakes, and warned the relic patron, to beware. Whether the relic finally was sold cannot be learned.

All Records Broken.
 Probably never before in the history of the Frankfort theater has the record made on Monday and Tuesday nights been equalled, says the Kentucky State Journal. All possible available standing room was filled. Mr. Depew put on one of his best productions last night, entitled "That Gal of Sam's." Miss Fannie Depew as Nancy Coon, Rose Wildwood as Nellie Coon, and Mollie Bennett as Miss Coon, Tom Depew as Steve Coon and Archie Maddox as Zip Coon, made up the "whole dam family" of Coons, and they were there with the "goods" too. O. J. Mowbray, playing Sam Tobin, Melville Russell as Mr. Dudley, and A. T. Storch as Tom Howe, kept things a-moving.

Many specialties are presented in addition to the above.
